Sharon

It's a shame we both weren't in the accounting business together, I think we would have both been promising accountants. It's been a pretty good year considering we spent it in school, yeah. It's been great discussing fat with you and I hope we can both lose weight for the summer. Watch out bop here we come. Have a fab summer.

Love ya, Cassie

Sharon

Hell we've blown away another year of English in Poole's class (The yiddish scum) and I can hardly wait to get him next year but I won't be here so I might as well get drunk It's been great knowing you and I might see you next year

Love Brian

Sharon You're great to have around in math and I hope to see you around in the summer. I've even partied with but I hope I get a chance too

Love

Sharon Enksen

Sharon: It's been fun listening to your grumble, grumble, stupid bitch!
all year in French. You better mess cause I didn't put up with it for nothing! Keep out of trouble

Sharon: morose one gem another a can "He's Alive!" Have a terrific summer party HURRY
KEEPER (just kidding)
HA!

Don't worry even though the only class we were in together was secretarial which I had to drop! TOO BAD!
You a good kid Sharon and I wish you all the luck in the world.
a friend forever
Chris Jarnard
KEEP IN TOUCH AND HAVE A GREAT SUMMER!!

Sharon

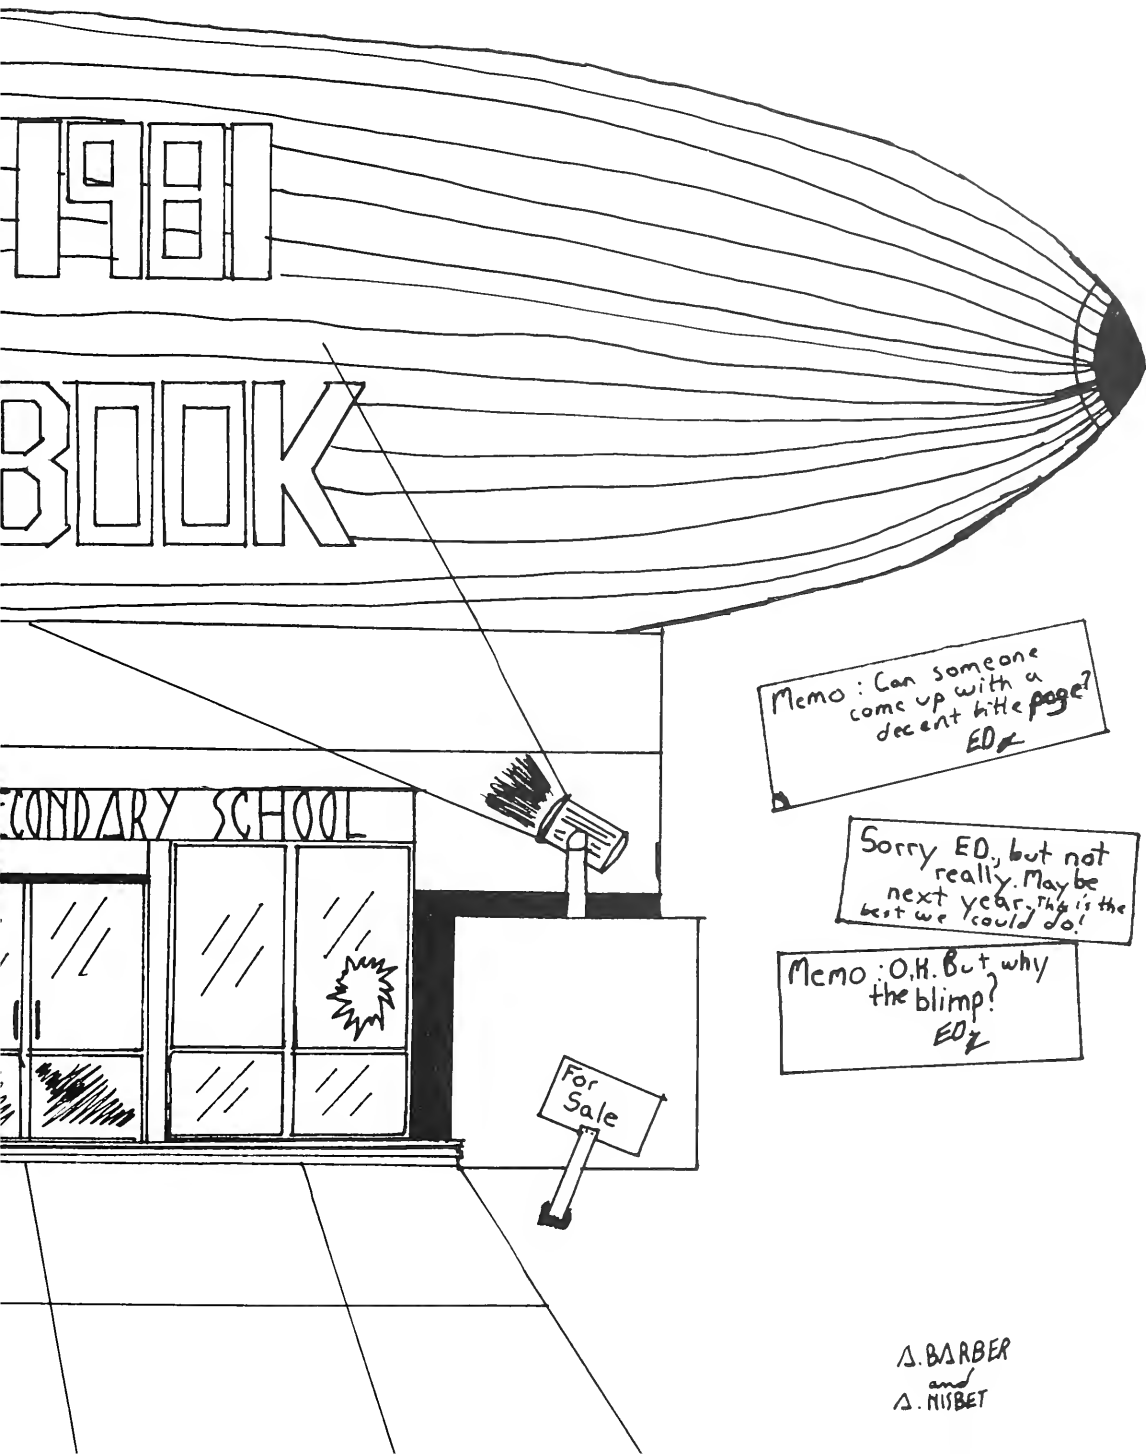

Well Sharon, through a year of double sherk (math and physics) we became friends. Your help with the difficult math questions made them seem very easy. - I hope you have a great summer and that the booze and men are kind to you. I'll see you in September.

Love
Dane xoxo

The deepest need of the heart is "love". Real love, in the highest sense, is giving. The Bible tells us that "God so loved ... that he gave." (John 3:16) Rather than seek what you can get from life - seek what you can give.

It is always a pleasure to be asked to make a brief contribution to the Yearbook. The Yearbook represents the culmination of many hours of hard work in the collection and organization of material by both staff and students. It provides a refreshing overview of the many varied opportunities for participation in the life at the school. For these reasons and many others, I am most appreciative of the Yearbook staff.

To those graduating, this book provides a record of your final year at White Oaks and as you look back over this and previous yearbooks, we trust that you will have many pleasant memories of this period of your life at this school.

As you move to the future may each one of you reflect on the thought expressed in the final line of ULYSSES by Lord Tennyson.

"To strive, To seek, to find and not to yield."

Best Wishes and every success in the days ahead.

Welcome

This school of ours is mellowing with age. Just a few years ago, niners were initiated by a week of good natured tormenting by their superiors. This year, however those brats were given a night of fun and memories. Tournaments of volleyball were played, the cheerleaders put on a show for them, they composed a banner of handprints, and visited the legendary Lord Nelson. To top the evening off, there was a dance which included prizes. Things are much better than when I was a niner!

The musical "Oliver" was another huge success for White Oaks.

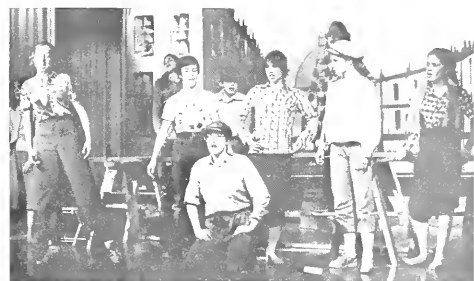

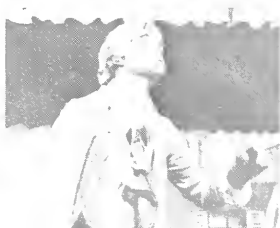

Although it is unusual for a miner to play the title role, Kevin Thomson as Oliver was convincingly touching as a homeless waif. Linda McBrien as a spirited cockney pick-pocket played her part to the utmost, as did Shelley Jones as Nancy, Louis Major as Mr. Bumble and John Diaz as Bill Sykes.

Certainly if any one actor crowned the show it was Pete Slavin, whose magnificent rendition of Fagan Captured the hearts and admiration of everyone who saw it.

The whole cast was superb and with the great pit band and masterful stagecrew and the professional leadership of Miss Peace, Miss Currie-Mills, Mrs. Blinder and Mr. Herlihey to put it all together, the performances were enjoyed immensely by both participants and spectators.

Oliver

Any problems, traumas, veritable disasters?

I'm not what you think I am.

That's 34-36-32 not....

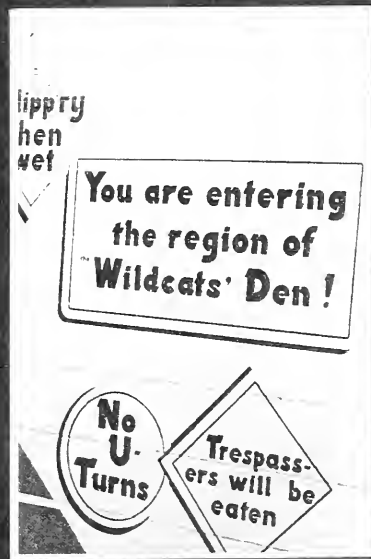

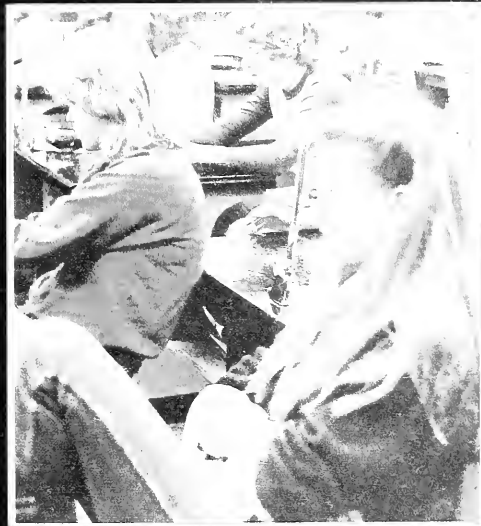

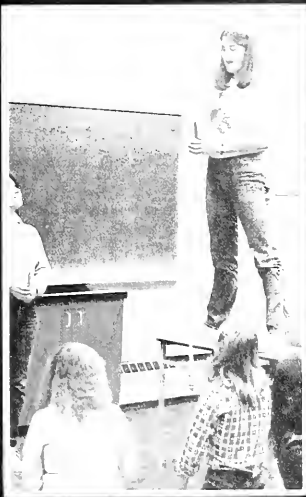

Let me at him, let me at him

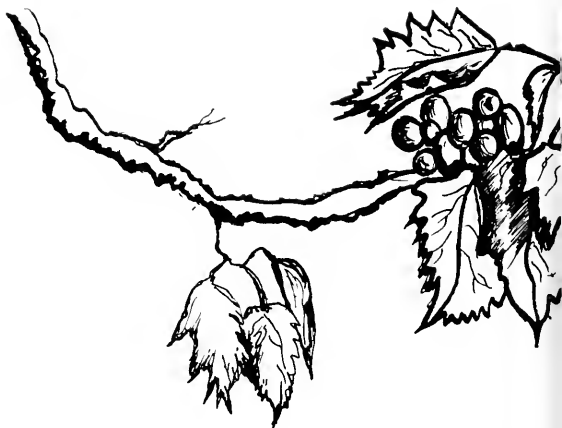

Back

Poetry

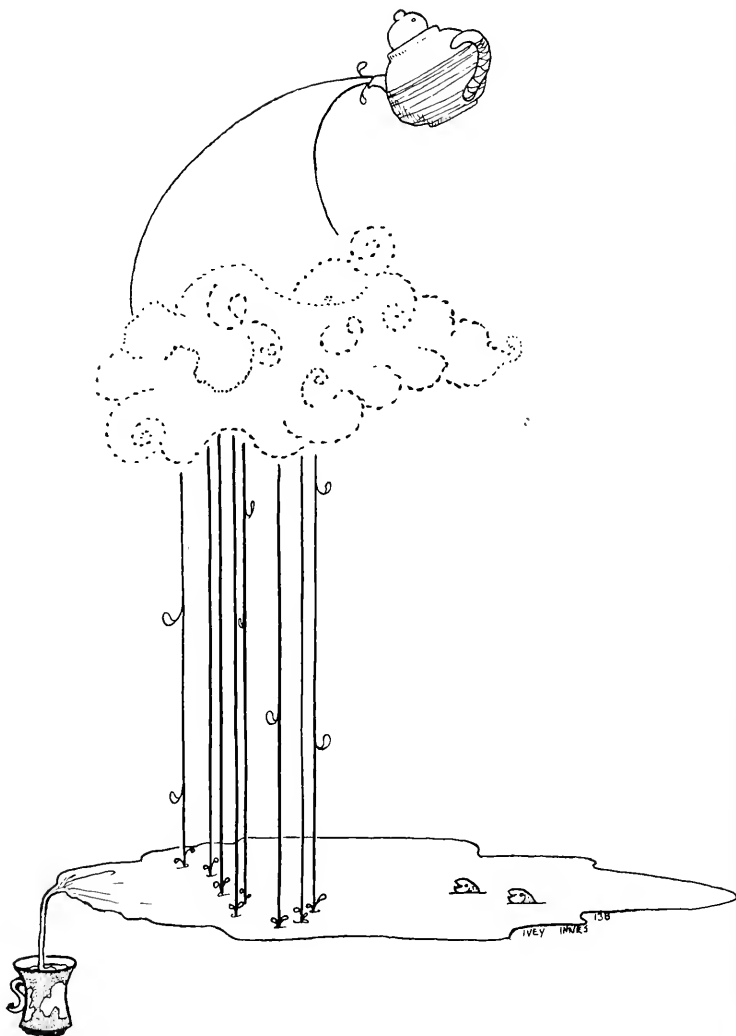

First

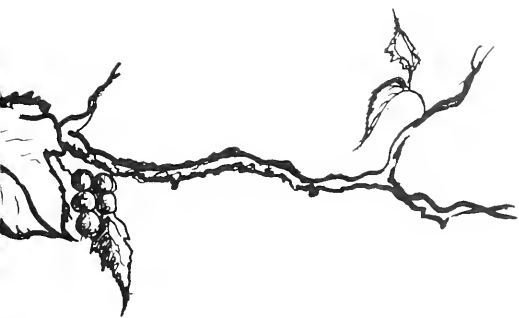

Music

Like soft strands of silk the music will bind us together as one not moving, yet floating pressed like flowers in pages like memories, like thoughts of roses and moonlight until the melody ceases and the throng rushes back to push us apart once more.

Kate Mather

And Art

Second

Passing Strangers

We meet.
I look at you,
You look at me.
For one infinite moment,
Our eyes fuse.
We see each other's souls,
And are forever engraved in each other's life.

We pass.
Our eyes unlock,
Our spirits separate;
You walk on.
Never are we to meet again.

We never spoke.
Just felt;
And saw.
But that is over;
You are gone.
Life goes on for me,
Without you.

What would have happened-
If we had stopped and spoken?
You would then become human,
And I not perfect.
This way our dream goes on;

A strange glance,
A simple passing,
An unforgettable eternity.

Cindy Sranko

Third

There was a child,
She lived in me.
Forever happy, forever free.

When I look for her all I find are the memories she left behind.

She had to leave,
she couldn't stay,
There were no more games for her to play.

Goodbye sweet child,
I'll miss you dear.
I'm sad we had to part.

You can't come back,
there's no more room.
Love's now within my heart.

Barb Becker

Where is Love?

Here I sit, rocking quietly in front of the fire all alone

No one but my thoughts are accompanying me tonight,
The thoughts of the previous evening are the star pupils.

As I wonder where the night went,
I ask myself the inevitable question,
Where is Love?

It was here last night, and it filled the room with a happiness and togetherness that warmed our hearts with it.

Love was there.

But now after has dimmed and been rekindled,

Where is the love that once lived?

Can it be rekindled just as the fire?

Can it bring special warmth once more?

I think it can.

Let this thought live with you forever:

Although the night will never be recreated,

The memory will live longer than ever fire could ever burn.

No matter what other feelings may block the memory away in our minds, In our hearts there should always be room for it to live and prosper.

It was perfect, just as the day afterwards was.
It was a perfect day after a perfect night.
The sun's warmth touched us like the pureness of the night before.
And the blankets of snow like the pureness of the friendship between each person.

Now loneliness is lost Because I have the memory as well as my own precious thoughts to help me through the remaining days.
Until this love can be touched,
in perhaps a different way,
But in one just as meaningful.
Love is everywhere you want it to be,
And everywhere it should be.

Liana Tumino

November eleventh
 The day begins you eat your cornflakes brush your teeth with Crest!
 Slip into your blue jeans,
 and all the rest walk on to school chat with your friends.
 Talk about Pete's last party, it was the living end!
 "O CANADA"
 our anthem played loud and clear, while all at attention
 we don't really hear!!
 Announcements come on.
 our football team won,
 fourteen to seven and boy was it fun.
 Basketball teams,
 didn't do quite so well,
 but they made the finals
 'cause they fought like hell.
 Then something different, REMEMBRANCE DAY,
 o, "yeah".....!
 We had that once last year.
 A moment of silence,
 for those who are deceased.
 In the field of white crosses poppies at their feet.
 We cry a little,
 mourn a lot say we're all sorry when more than half are not!!!
 Oh WELL.
 Just one moment's silence, that's not asking too much when people fought in hell for me to live free.
 So I'll stand and not giggle, or fidget too much,
 just to show them that they were too MUCH.
 "The day is dead"
 My mother always said
 "I still remember"
 The clouds lashed out at those men but time has passed since then.
 So let's all stand proud and free for all those men, who gave their lives for me and you to live free

Louis Major, 13D

A sigh is like a whisper or a teardrop in the snow a softly falling raindrop in sunset's rosy glow

A tear drop is the moonlight seen through the glistening leaf
 A raindrop come from heaven a symbol of our grief

A raindrop is a symbol it's God's returning love it shows us that a flower will awaken to the dove

The dove is too a symbol a crowning of the peace
 The object representing the war's eternal cease.

Karyn Risrok 10H

Man

The rain was in torrents,
 The blasts of wind, wild His legs were numb with agony,
 His thoughts in mind weren't filed
 He yearned to stop and rest,
 He was obsessed with the thoughts of sleep

But still in all he drearily trudged on,
 But in the process,
 loosing as he won

Nothing could get in his way, Nothing could stop his ambition

All alone he would proceed,
 All together in the same league

Forever he will struggle,
 Forever he will gain

He will always live as
 He will always reign!

Lynne E. Penford

A Letter

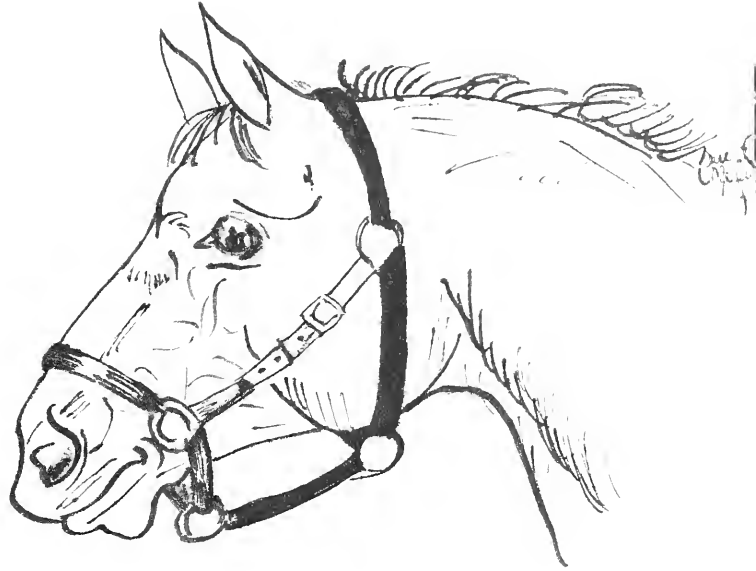

A letter; a few words
Of love and remembrance
What joy to receive
What pleasure to answer;
A miles that covers miles

Will you write to me?
Show you care and remember.
I'll write back-
The miles between us will shorten,
For a few minutes
You will be beside me
Dear and familiar.

Write to me.
Just a few words will do.
Show me you care and remember!
Write these words on paper,
for then these words,
Unlike spoken ones,
Will not be lost in the winds of time.
Words on paper,
Concrete and real,
Lasting always.

A letter; a few words
Of love and remembrance,
Cried over and read Again and again.
Until the words, now worn off the paper,
Are carved into the heart-Forever

Cindy Sranko

Only Nothing

Nothing to do,
But waste time.
Nothing to say,
Just talk.
Nothing to hear,
Only noise.
No plot,
No characters,
No denouement.
Nothing to see,
Only looking.
Nothing to write,
Just words.
No mission,
No purpose,
No theme.
It is only a poem,
A collection of words.

The Question

Standing alone in a crowded corridor
Unseen people flow past.
I wait here to ask her The Question.
She comes gracefully - Unsuspecting my purpose - I hope.
Heart beating faster - mouth dry hopes high Eyes glazed with fearful expectancy
My feet shuffle nervously, contemplating escape
She looks my way
I catch a look of contempt
So I join the press of people Going down stairs
And tell myself "Next year, maybe."

J.

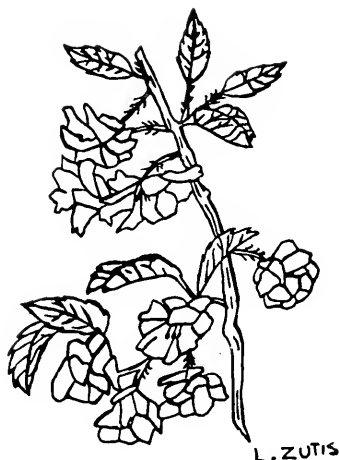

Life
A tiny heartbeat
That moment in eternity
When everything begins

Comfort
The warm and protecting womb
Nurture and cuddles Everlasting security
Mommy's pride and joy
Growing strong inside
The biggest miracle of all
So tiny, yet so full of life

Darkness, pain Rejection I can take
But mummy, don't let me die
Just let me see your face Save a tear
You know I love you mummy
Just give me the chance Can't turn away now
For I need you and You need me

So sleep little baby
Your moment has gone
You grasped and held on to your chance
Your chance at life
To show the person you could have been Would have been So hush little baby
You didn't have a say It's all been taken care of Your life, they've thrown away.

A Child of Love

I reach out, yet touch nothing.

I try to understand,
yet am naive.

I search,
yet do not find.

Will I ever live love?
Will I ever touch?
Will I ever understand?
Will I ever find?
Will I ever receive?

You may ask what.
I will answer.

Eternal love!
For love is live!
Destroy love and you destroy all that I am,
For I am but a simple child of love,
In need of love.

The Winslow Boy, by Terrance Rattugan, was performed on the stage at White Oaks on April 24, 25, 26 1980.

The play was first performed on a London stage in 1946. Now, thirty-four years later it was presented again with a cast of eleven and a production crew of thirty.

This was the eighth production for our director, Geoffrey Davies and the third for our assistant-director, Mary Stout. Special thanks to Everett Zawadzki, stage manager; Teresa Ward, properties; Glenn Milchem, prompter; Frank Kadlec, lighting and sound; and everyone else who helped to make the play a success.

Valedictory Address

The time has come for the graduating class of '80 to say a final goodbye to White Oaks Secondary School, and staff. There is no more returning in September. We are finished here, forever.

It seems like a long way, back to our first days at W.O.S.S., ones filled with fear and horror as we walked the halls, desperately clasp onto our maps and praying to make it by the Grade 13 ledge alive. But, somehow, we have made it to and through Grade 13 and look at us, aren't we the happiest graduates you have ever seen?

Most of us have spent the entire five years of high school together, some of us are newcomers. All of us though, are friends. It seems like a long time, five years, but just ask Martha and Jerry, the years have flown by quickly. The important fact is that we have made it and we have got genuine diplomas to prove it.

When we came to White Oaks from grade eight, we entered as children with only half our education completed. White Oaks was our second beginning and offered us many educational experiences. We quickly learned that getting along with different teachers was an education in itself. We also learned the importance of being independent, that teachers were there to teach and that it was up to us to learn. We have many teachers to thank for helping us get where we are today. We cannot forget Mr. Richardson's, Mr. Baker's and Mr. Needham's words of wisdom, our guidance counsellors with their advice and, of course, our faithful secretaries, who made sure we were signed in and that our parents were notified promptly for everything. I take this opportunity now to thank you all. The people to thank the most, however, are you, our parents. You guided us lovingly through our younger years and now watch proudly as we, your children, graduate tonight. Thank you all for being there.

Like every graduating class we too have had our moments. There were school ski trips and even better, there were Stefan ski trips. There were sunny days spent at Kelso and long nights shared at Drumquin. Ah yes, Drumquin, home of the world famous grade 13 Base-Ball-A-Thon. There were floodlight football games and even if you didn't win this year guys, you will always be champs, especially since you look so great in your uniforms. But, best of all, there were formals, parties, nineteenth birthdays, spares, parties and ... parties.

It is hard to believe that it is all behind us now, what a shock to think: no more McBurney English essays and no more calculus tests by Carmichael.

We have also succeeded in leaving our mark in White Oaks with such events as the Christmas Assembly, which will definitely go down in W.O.S.S. history, thanks to the S.W.A.T. team, the Rocky Horror Gang, our special guests the village people and Santa. But, most of all, thanks to Mr. Jackson, who, after seeing the rehearsal, still believed that our Christmas Assembly could be a success. Who will ever forget our dedicated, happy, spirits of W.O.S.S. with their extraordinary attempts at school spirit. And then, there was Hallowe'en when all sorts of creatures appeared, creatures who were even more weird than those on the stage of Second City. There were also many dedicated athletes who did more than their share and more than they should have for White Oaks. We have had a great five years. We have come from Kodiaks to Nikes, from English to Croation and from normal to punk. We have argued, gambled, drank, fought, skipped classes and the list goes on. But most of all we have laughed and we have loved and we have learned. We have learned to accept and we have learned to understand. That is why it makes it so hard to say goodbye to each other after living together all these years. (Sorry - Pictures Unavailable)

Interscholastic Christian Fellowship

The response to Christian Fellowship this year has been encouraging. This is a year of building and consolidating. We hope that many more people will join us in our weekly meetings and prayer sessions. In these troubled times, I feel that faith in the message of Christ has never been more important.

Tennis Team

This year at the Halton Tennis Championship, the following took place:

In the juniors: Dale Dawe, Lorraine Griffiths and Kelly Fitzsimmons played very well. The two doubles teams of Chris Potter, Andrew Lee, Paul Drury and Lisa Lalonde made it to the quarter finals and Helen Griffiths advanced all the way to the semi-finals.

The seniors were even more successful. Fine athletic performances were displayed by Chris Khan, Cheryl Harney and Ann Hansen. Max Banks and Ian Glover won their matches my impressive scores of 9-0 and 9-1 before advancing to the finals, where they were defeated. However, in the senior mixed doubles, Leslie Mordaunt and Dave Glenn won all their matches and brought home two medals as the Halton Champions.

Mrs. Tough and Mr. Connelly would like to congratulate the players for their fine season. The coaches would like to suggest that more girls practice over the summer and try out for the team early next fall.

The W.O.S.S. Junior Football Team completed another successful season. The team participated in a Round Robin Tournament at Pearson High to start the season. The season ended in the Oakville semi-finals with a hard fought loss to T.A. Blakelock. During the season the team recorded lopsided victories over Perdue, Milton and Oakville Trafalgar. Their third place finish in the league was a real tribute to the coaches (R. Trodd, G. Roche, H. Singleton and R. Wignall) and the players. WELL DONE!!!

The Senior Football Team had the potential to be the best in Halton. The coaches coached blocking, tackling and made sure every play was perfect.

To encourage the team, the ritual of a wild and crazy party before the first game, was held at Matt's cottage. (sorry about the mess, Matt) Then the season came and went, leaving the team with a one and four record. But this does not tell the story.

With the frequent, high pitched "Laaaaba" and the always present antics of Pete Slavin before every game, the team was ready for almost anything.

W'ds ^{only} have to make me write something in your book, I don't know what to write. You great to have around in math with Mr. Stark. Have a great summer and don't get to Wetzel this summer either. My writing pretty messy because I was writing on the car.
